To whom it may concern:

I am writing regarding the participation of Sargis Baldaryan in the 17th Annual Graduate Student Colloquium in Armenian Studies. This day-long academic meeting will be held at the University of California, Los Angeles, on Friday, February 15, 2019.

The colloquium is an annual event organized and hosted by the Armenian Graduate Students Association (AGSA). It is developed in conjunction with the Narekatsi Chair in Armenian Studies and the Department of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures at UCLA. You may find it useful to know that the AGSA is overseen by the Student Organizations, Leadership and Engagement Office (contact person Pamela Cysner—pcysner@saonet.ucla.edu) and the Graduate Student Association (contact person Michael Skiles—pres@gsa.asucla.ucla.edu); that the Narekatsi Chair is held by Professor S. Peter Cowe (cowe@humnet.ucla.edu); and that the Department of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures is directed by Professor Kara Cooney (cooney@ucla.edu).

We are delighted that Sargis will be joining us to share his expertise in the field of Armenian studies with other scholars of this discipline. Should you need any more information about us or the colloquium we have organized, we invite you to write to us at agsc@ucla.edu.

With best wishes,

Armen Adamian
